2 Background

The Animal Products (Export Requirements - Cats and Dogs) Notice 2012 (the Notice) specifies requirements in relation to the processing of the following two types of animals for export to countries for which official assurances are required:

- (a) dogs
- (b) cats

Since the intended importing countries require official assurances, it is necessary that the process of exporting these animals are subject to certain requirements that:

- (a) appropriately manage any associated risks; and
- (b) safeguard the integrity of associated official assurances; and
- (c) are in accordance with, or can reasonably be expected to satisfy, the requirements of the relevant authority of importing countries.

MPI proposes to amend the Notice. The proposed changes under consultation specifically relate to export of live horses with official assurances, and exporter being responsible for ensuring the animals are microchipped prior to issuing an official assurance. All other requirements in the Notice remain unchanged although, as stated, the structure of the Notice and the wording of some provisions have been amended for uniformity and clarification purposes. The proposed amended Notice is published in conjunction with this discussion document.

If the proposed changes are adopted after consultation, the amended notice will be issued, revoking and replacing the Animal Products (Export Requirements - Cats and Dogs) Notice 2012.

To assist readers and submitters, the specific provisions in the Notice that are under consultation are highlighted.

4 Proposed changes

4.1 LIVE HORSES EXPORTED WITH AN OFFICIAL ASSURANCE ARE REQUIRED ARE TO BE MICROCHIPPED

Proposal

MPI proposes that the requirement for the export of live horses accompanied by an official assurance are to be microchipped as explicitly specified in the Notice.

Exporters are responsible for ensuring a horse is implanted with a microchip prior to issuing an official assurance. The exporter is responsible for recording the microchip details appropriately, and to have the microchip details readily available to reference for verification and certification purposes.

Rationale

Requiring horses that are exported with an official assurance to be microchipped will provide more accurate verification and certification during the export process. Verifiers and certifiers have noted the difficulty with using branding and silhouettes that are not distinct enough for accurate identification. This issue have also been raised by the border inspection staff of overseas competent authorities.

The use of microchipping for the purposes of accurate identification has been proven to contribute to a robust certification system, with close to 4000 successful consignments of cats and dogs being exported from New Zealand in 2018 using microchip scanning.

MPI seeks more harmonious standards for importing and exporting horses. All horses imported into New Zealand are required to be microchipped for the purposes of accurate identification, the proposed amendment to the notice shall bring the two requirements into alignment.

Question 1: Do you agree with this proposal to specify the requirements for horses that are exported with an official assurance are to be implanted with a microchip for the purposes of identification?

4.2 THE EXPORTER IS RESPONSIBLE FOR RECORDING THE MICROCHIP DETAILS APPROPRIATELY, AND MAKE THE DETAILS READILY AVAILABLE FOR THE PURPOSES OF VERIFICATION AND CERTIFICATION

Proposal

When a microchip is implanted, the registered exporter is to record the animal details including the microchip appropriately. When a representative of a recognised agency or an MPI official require the information for the purposes of verification or certification, the exporter is able to provide this information available in a reasonable timeframe.

Rationale

The exporter having the microchip information readily available for reference for verification and certification purposes has proven to contribute to a roust certification process in the dogs and cats space.

Question 2: Do you agree with this proposal that the exporter must record the microchip details and make this information readily available for the purposes of verification and certification?
